ABOUT KINESIOLOGY CONNECTION (KC)

Kinesiology Connection is at the forefront of Kinesiology training in Australia. Established for over 20 years the college proudly has the highest number of successful Kinesiology graduates.

Kinesiology Connection's success is due to the premium standard of its teaching staff and facilities, limited intakes of students to maintain a high teacher-to-student ratio, as well as a solid support system including full time administration and student wellbeing personnel on site at the college.

Our licensed PKP™ courseware is provided by the International College of Professional Kinesiology Practice ('ICPKP'). ICPKP is a leading provider of course material and assessment tools in Kinesiology, the science of energy balancing. We are proud to be working alongside the ICPKP.

Kinesiology Connection is conveniently located in a modern office complex at 5/333 Canterbury Road in Canterbury, one of Melbourne's greater eastern suburbs, approximately 10kms from the city.

The college has great facilities including a practitioner consulting room and a spacious classrooms dedicated only to Kinesiology, a welcoming atmosphere and is close to cafes. This all combines to offer a great environment to study in.

ABOUT THE PRINCIPAL

Ed Faust - College Principal and Senior Faculty:

Ed is the principal of the college at Kinesiology Connection and has run his own very successful private clinic for almost thirty years. His aims and objectives are to facilitate powerful change through Kinesiology training, producing highly proficient practitioners and extremely competent PKP™ teachers. Ed also offers personal consultations to enhance and create wellbeing and vitality in people's lives.

Ed was acknowledged in 2000 with an award from the Australian Kinesiology Association (AKA) and in 2006 by the Australian Institute of Kinesiologists (AIK) for "Outstanding contribution to the development and recognition of Kinesiology."

He has studied a wide range of modalities in the natural health field, especially in relation to Kinesiology as a complementary therapy and has been involved with Kinesiology at its highest levels serving and implementing many positive changes with the Victorian State Body and the two Australian National Kinesiology Associations.

Ed facilitates advanced workshops, including Total Body Modification and his very own Energy Masterclasses for our Kinesiology students.

Working together with the ICPKP he established a complete Kinesiology career training program.

OUR PKP™ TEACHERS

All teachers at Kinesiology Connection have completed all four levels of Kinesiology training (see below) to become Registered Kinesiopractors® and have undergone rigorous PKP™ faculty training with Ed.

Levels of Assessment

There are three levels of assessment to determine competency in a unit of study:

1. Practical Assessment - Based on the students' performance in class and during student clinics. *Additionally, at the conclusion of all units, FPP & Int Dip students will complete a Final Assessment.
2. Written - Student Assessment Journal (SAJ). At the commencement of each unit, a SAJ is issued and is used to record your practice findings. The SAJ is completed both in class and at home and is handed in on completion for marking to gain competency.
3. ICPKP Online Test – Once each unit's SAJ has been assessed competent and returned to you, it will be registered on your academic record on the ICPKP website. This will enable you to sit the short multiple-choice test for the unit.

Non-Attendance / Tutorials

As the course content expands on the learning from the previous unit, non-attendance can affect the flow of the curriculum. If you cannot attend a scheduled class, then you are required to attend a tutorial.

Tutorials can be arranged by contacting the college to discuss the available options. Please note, tutorials are approximately 2 - 4 hours long, depending on the unit and how many days are missed and incur a cost of $100 per hour.
